Art Unit: 1797

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7, and 9-16 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hirata et al.

With respect to claims 1 and 7, Hirata et al disclose a method for reducing the content of contaminating metals in ionic form present in aqueous effluents (e.g., palladium wastewater, see line 16 of col. 7), the method including the steps of providing an aqueous effluent including at least a metal in ionic form (e.g., palladium), placing the aqueous effluent in contact with at least a metal (e.g., nickel, see lines 7-10 of col. 7) that is obviously completely or partially coated with hydrogen during the treatment of the metal ion(s) (e.g., when placed in contact with the water containing the metal contaminants as disclosed on lines 16-27 of col. 7); and b) recovering the aqueous effluent (e.g., via the extraction column mentioned on line 18 of col. 7).

As to claims 2-6, Hirata et al disclose nickel (see line 65 of col. 6).

Regarding claims 9-11, Hirata et al disclose gold (see line 16 of col. 2).

Concerning claim 12, Hirata et al disclose nickel (see lines 19-23 of col. 7).

Regarding claim 13, Hirata et al disclose a support (e.g., activated carbon, see lines 38 and 39 of col. 6).

As to claims 14 and 18, Hirata et al disclose a range of 10-70 degrees C which falls within the claimed ranges.

Concerning claim 15, Hirata et al disclose a pH value of 7.9 that falls within applicants claimed range of 1-14.

Regarding claim 16, Hirata et al disclose plating wastewater (see line 17 of col. 2).

Applicant's arguments filed 5-19-09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Hirata et al fail to disclose keeping a hydrogen coating on the metal during treatment of the aqueous effluent, however, it is held that Hirata et al disclose such a step since the metal is in constant contact with water in the aqueous effluent, the water providing the claimed hydrogen coating.
